Preface

OUR PERSONALITY AND THE structure of our body are such that as soon as there appears any impurity or imbalance in them, its external signs start manifesting themselves in the form of various symptoms. If we can identify these symptoms in time and administer a homoeopathic medicine which shows similar symptoms, the malady can be cured. Such treatment does not clash with surgery, body exercises or yoga, or any other drugless system of treatment. It is said that a system of treatment, like homoeopathy, based on symptoms, attacking the malady from inside is generally not taken seriously. There can be only one answer to this situation: we; the homoeopaths, devote a great deal of our time and attention to the correct and precise analysis of symptoms and, based on that analysis, continue to administer our 'magic pills' undeterred.

An eminent allopath of England, Dr. Compton Burnett, was once himself afflicted with pleurisy. When allopathic treatment failed, he resorted to homoeopathic treatment and, after being cured, took to homoeopathic practice himself. He said if the homoeopathic method was kept secret the governments of the world would have been surprised by its curative powers and would be prepared to give anything to learn its secrets. How true is his statement! Homoeopathic medicines, if correctly prescribed, work like magic.

Illness or accident can strike at any time. In such a situation if we can administer quick medical treatment, many complications can be obviated. This book has been written to overcome such unexpected situations. The present work follows the shorter Hindi version after its unprecedented success and we are sure that this will be intelligible to an ordinary layperson who has a basic knowledge of English. This book will also be equally useful for quick consultation by the busy practitioner.

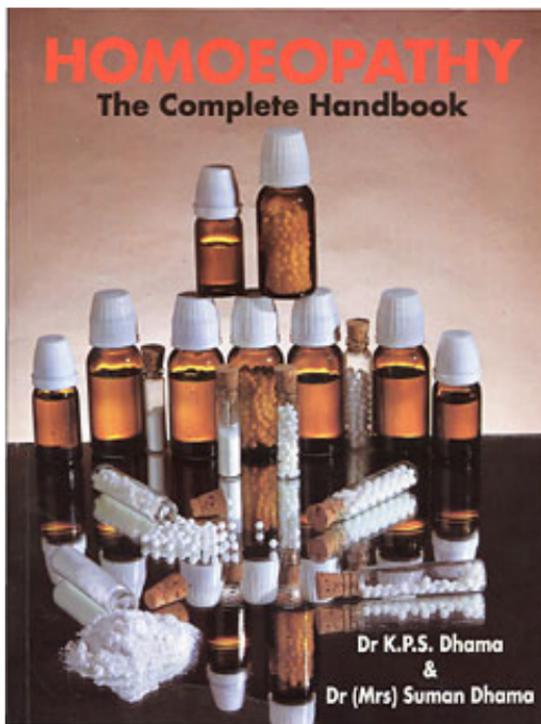

We have tried to present the subject matter in a way that will help the selection of medicines according to symptoms keeping in view the need to avoid unnecessary details. We have tried to be brief and to the point. If the readers wish to discuss the topics further, we are always prepared to do so provided a self-addressed and stamped envelope is sent.

Broadly speaking, the subject matter has been arranged ailment-wise in an alphabetical order, making it easy to locate medicines needed for individual ailments. Wherever necessary cross-references have also been given. For a better understanding of the subject and for easy practical application it would be necessary to go through the Introduction first.

We have benefited from the help and advice of many friends. The following names do merit special mention: Dr. Y.P. Chhibbar, Lt. Gen. R.P. Singh, and Shri S.J.S. Chhatwal. Shri Amit Nagi has prepared the final computerised manuscript with care and attention.
